TROOPS WILL ATTACK NORTH YANGTZE BANK

Martial Law Declared in the Native Area of Shanghai;
6 Radicals Executed.

Paris, April 22 (By A. P.).—France and Great Britain are in complete accord upon the principles of the five-power reply to be made to Eugene Chen, Cantonese foreign minister, regarding the anti-foreign outrages at Nanking.

The impression prevails in official circles that an agreement of the powers in Peking on the joint reply to Chen is awaiting information as to what the Americans are going to do.

The diplomats in Peking are arranging all the details of the reply, the terms of which thus far are not known here, either officially or unofficially. It is supposed the reply will be handed over as soon as Washington is heard from.

Shells Destroy a Train.
Shanghai, China, April 22 (By A. P.).—A Kuomintang (Chinese) news agency dispatch from Nanking reports that artillery fire from the Cantonese batteries on Lion Hsiang Nan in the vicinity of a Shantungese armored train at Pukow across the river.

Radio messages from Chinkiang today said that many troops apparently are preparing for an attack on the north bank of the Yangtze river. This, together with the landing on the north bank yesterday of a large number of troops from Nanking, tends to confirm the reports that Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, leader of the moderate section of the nationalists, has resumed his campaign against the northerners.

Batteries in the vicinity of Lion Hsiang in Nanking, are reported in a wireless dispatch to have fired heavily throughout yesterday afternoon, which is held by the northerners. Pukow is on the northern bank of the Yangtze on the southern bank of the Yangtze.

All foreign buildings in Chinkiang have been occupied by southern (nationalist) troops. Eleven foreign ships left Chinkiang today, conveyed by naval vessels.

Borodin Leaving, Is Reported.
High Cantonese sources are authority for the statement that Michael Borodin, the Russian citizen who has acted as adviser to the Cantonese regime at Hankow, is on his way out of China.

He is traveling overland to the northwest toward the Transiberian railway. It is stated, however, that he is being held by the Chinese government, and that he is being held by the Chinese government, and that he is being held by the Chinese government.

Six radical leaders were executed in the native quarter of Lungchow, but their names were withheld.

U. S. Course Is Not Told.
(By the Associated Press.)
The Washington government is still withholding decision as to its next step in connection with the Nanking outrages, pending a more complete understanding of the political situation in China created by the split between the moderate and radical wings of the Cantonese nationalist party.

Secretary Kellogg is not as yet taken up with Minister MacMurray at Peking suggestions made by the Minister as to the form and content of a reply to the note received from Eugene Chen, foreign minister of the radical element of the nationalist party. It was said today by officials.

In some quarters it is regarded as possible that the Washington government may decide not to reply directly at all to the Chen communication, but to issue a formal statement of its position regarding the Nanking outrages for general distribution to the military and political leaders in China.

Decision may depend upon the course followed by Chiang Kai-shek, former commander in chief of the nationalist army, but who has set an independent moderate nationalist government at Nanking, breaking entirely with the radical nationalist government at Hankow. Chiang also received the original American demands for reparations and apologies on the Nanking outrages, but has not as yet indicated whether he would reply.

Will Rogers Says Coolidge Will Win With Huge Margin

Harrisburg, Pa., April 22.—I see where the wise guys are going to try and smoke Mr. Coolidge out with an open letter about how he stands on the third term. They can write him till his mail looks like Santa Claus and all they will have to show for it will be ink on their fingers. Why should he tell 'em? What would you tell any one that asked you what you would be doing November 4 a year and a half from now?

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.
P. S.—The foregoing is not an editorial opinion because editors are always certain of what they write. This is only a fool's opinion but will be backed with money made from being a fool. Coolidge will not only run, but he will win by so much he won't even stay up to listen to the count over the radio.

FLOOD VICTIMS DIE IN TREES, ON ROOFS

leaves, while the fliers could see the levee crumbling on both ends and could hear the distress cries of refugees. They were directing rescue work from maps they sketched in the air.

The fliers reported that the Pium Bay levee, extending from Greenville, Miss., 41 miles along the river to near Rob Roy was a "few high places in a sea of water." The levee had broken in many places and the crevasses were hard to distinguish.

Apprehension for Greenville.
Greenville, Miss., April 22 (By A. P.).—Rescued from death in the flood waters which stretched away for scores of miles, hundreds of exhausted men, women and children formed a cover for the Mississippi river levee here tonight, as they slept in blankets, they slept on the levee.

Below them was this city, flooded by water flowing from a levee break eighteen miles to the north. Greenville's water supply was cut off and by nightfall boats had become the only means of transportation. City streets were covered with from two to five feet of water.

Rescue boats operated by national guard units spent the day taking people out of trees and from house-tops. These soldiers were unable to bring in the bodies of many who had been taken by the flood.

Thousands Still Marooned.
Memphis, Tenn., April 22 (By A. P.).—While thousands of refugees were concentrated in more than a dozen of the larger cities of the Mississippi valley, many thousands of people were marooned in villages, knolls, upper floors of buildings, trees and house-tops.

Gifts of food and clothing poured into the relief agencies of the Red Cross and American Legion. At the same time a general response was given to the appeals for contributions. It was emphasized that a general response was given to the appeals for contributions. It was emphasized that a general response was given to the appeals for contributions.

Perils of disease, epidemic and food and water shortage are loomed as specters in Arkansas and Mississippi, where the brunt of the flood damage fell to the refugees. The Red Cross is working with compulsory vaccination and typhoid inoculation, were either being taken by the authorities as fast as the refugees were received, or being placed in the immediate future. Food was sent by railroad, boat and airplane to several isolated towns.

Searchlights Seek Victims.
Little Rock, Ark., April 22 (By A. P.).—Boats whose searchlights gleamed across debris-laden flood waters as beacons of salvation for hundreds of persons marooned on knolls and high places in Arkansas continued to ply the swollen streams tonight, hourly adding to the list of lives saved from exposure and hunger.

Refugee camps, hastily constructed, received belated and meager supplies of food and clothing, while health authorities concentrated on efforts to prevent the spread of disease which has struck in several concentration points.

New Orleans, April 22 (By A. P.).—The flood situation in Louisiana today was described by the "Times-Picayune" as "a tragedy of the nation's history" by George C. Schoenberger, chief engineer of the State.

It was the first official admission that the lower part of the Mississippi valley was facing a crisis due to present high water and high water to come. Thousands of people are being taken to work on the levees throughout the lower valley, reinforcing the other thousands already at work and tonight an army of workmen, supplemented by a line of sentries, stretched from the scene of the latest break at St. Charles to the mouth of the river.

The hazard of the situation was increased by the flooding of sections of Concordia and Catahoula parishes, La., by backwaters from tributaries of the Mississippi. Concordia was expected to be entirely submerged by backwaters from the river and Red Cross officials instigated the removal of women and children from Ferriday, across the river from Natchez, Miss.

HOOVER, AS CHAIRMAN, TO DIRECT CAMPAIGN

Officials Expect 450,000 to Be Driven From Homes in Next Few Days.

(By the Associated Press.)
The nation was appealed yesterday to contribute $5,000,000 for the relief of thousands stricken by the Mississippi valley floods.

A special campaign to raise that amount was decided upon by Red Cross officials after a conference with four members of President Coolidge's cabinet, appointed by him to coordinate government relief activities with the Red Cross. Earlier in the day the President issued a proclamation urging contributions to the Red Cross to carry on its work.

The cabinet committee, comprising Secretaries Hoover, Mellon, Wilbur and Davis of the War Department, declared the disaster to be of the first magnitude in the history of the United States. The estimated 450,000 persons were homeless in the flooded area.

The $5,000,000 fund was decided upon after Secretary Davis presented War Department reports indicating that further breaks in levees along the Mississippi river were expected. He estimated that 150,000 persons would be forced from their homes within the next few days.

Hoover Is Chairman.
Secretary Hoover was designated chairman of the campaign committee, its other members including the three secretaries and James L. Fieser, acting chairman of the Red Cross. The committee agreed with President Coolidge, as he set forth in his proclamation, that the burden of relief rests with the Red Cross, but that the government should be coordinated by the cabinet members and employed through the relief organization.

Officials of the public health service have arranged to hold themselves in readiness should disease following in the wake of the floods become epidemic. Coast guard boats already are participating in relief work, as will three navy seaplanes from the Pensacola fleet, which are being used to transport supplies to the flooded areas. The navy has drawn upon its surplus supplies, having shipped to refugee concentration centers 1,453 war tents, 16,207 pyramidal tents, 11,102 cots and 27,405 blankets.

Federal Funds Lacking.

Judge Takes a Ballot In Audience on Ruling

Chicago, April 22 (By A. P.).—Judge Harry A. Lewis, a veteran of superior court, today conducted a novel experiment designed to afford him a check on his own ability to judge the merits of cases involving marital differences.

After the evidence of a case had been heard by a crowded courtroom, he ordered eighteen ballots passed out, nine to men and nine to women, who were to mark whether they thought the wife or the husband should be awarded the decision.

Judge Lewis explained that he wanted to determine whether he was "getting rusty in making decisions." He ordered the ballots collected, but before seeing them, made his decision.

The jurist denied the wife's bill for separate maintenance and granted the husband a divorce. The ballots later showed his decision was unanimous.

HE LATER APOLOGIZES BANKER DEFENDS RUSSIA

Special to The Washington Post.
Philadelphia, April 22.—The Rev. Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., of Georgetown university, speaking today before the Academy of Political and Social Science, categorically denied a statement made by one of the speakers that the failure of the United States to recognize soviet Russia was due to the influence of oil interests.

Louis Fischer, a New York magazine writer, had charged by the speaker before the academy that the nonrecognition of soviet Russia, especially during the administration of President Hughes, was due to the pressure of the oil interests and especially the Standard Oil Co. At the end of his address Fischer Walsh arose and denied the statement.

"The policy of the United States," said Fischer Walsh, "in regard to soviet Russia, was determined when Mr. Colby was Secretary of State, seven years prior to Hughes' incumbency. Mr. Hughes merely took the policy that he had found left by his predecessor."

Russia is turning from communism and is applying capitalist methods to its economic and industrial structure, according to two speakers before the academy today.

William S. Wasserman, Philadelphia representative of Dillon, Read & Co., told the delegates at this morning's session that American capital eventually would return to Russia, "because the need is so great it cannot be denied."

Mr. Wasserman, who passed three months in Russia studying economic and social conditions, recommended today that the United States send a commission to Russia to discuss recognition, which he urged.

Mr. Wasserman declared that in many Russian factories workers were increasing themselves as producers, and the place-work system—that is, for the actual work done.

Pierpont Noyes, of Oneida, N. Y., declared that as business concern the present government of Russia is more stable than half the governments of Europe, supported by a larger proportion of the population than most governments.

He declared there would never be a counter-revolution paving the way to a return to a government similar to the czarist regime.

STORE OWNER BEATS AND CAPTURES BANDIT

of the bandits who threatened to kill her. Mrs. Capelli ran from the store to her room on the second floor, followed by the negro. She barricaded herself in her room and then screamed for help from a front window.

Meanwhile, the bandit who had attacked Mrs. Capelli was seen by the store owner and he hurried himself through a plate glass window in the front door. Capelli flung a ten-pound meat cleaver at the bandit, striking him in the head, and the bandit fell to the ground, knocking his cap off.

The bandit, streaming down his face from wounds in his head, the bandit, who made his escape, fired two shots from the street at Mrs. Capelli, who was sitting on the sidewalk, and then fled.

Meanwhile, inside the store, Capelli and his 15-year-old son, Theodore, were beating up Washington.

Theodore and his father broke more than a dozen bottles over the bandit's head during the fight. Washington also picked up several bottles of mustard and milk and struck him with them.

Mrs. Capelli's cries for help attracted the attention of more than a dozen persons, including Alva Harr, who lives next door at 1122 North Capitol street. Harr chased the fleeing bandit across the street to a lot in the rear of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.'s warehouse. Once on the lot, the bandit stumbled and fell. Harr and several others rushed upon him and held him for a few minutes of tussling, he wriggled free.

The bandit, threatening to shoot any one who followed, ran toward the alley in the rear of Fenton street and escaped.

He reserves from the Second, Sixth and Eighth precincts were ordered to the scene of the holdup to search for the escaped bandit and to take the crowd under control.

THE WASHINGTON POST: SATURDAY, APRIL 23, 1927.

The Day of Reckoning

At intervals in the lifespan of every person there will recur thoughts and scenes of early youth. At such times a man thinks not of himself, but of his Creator; not entirely of his present status, but of his future. Men who may never have professed religion at such times experience spirituality. This waits only on their own initiative to reform and remake their lives. This opportunity to change for the better comes less often than do the many temptations to remain half way or backward in spiritual growth. A church, regardless of creed, helps men to help themselves attain the contentment of divinely guided lives.

The Day of Reckoning

At intervals in the lifespan of every person there will recur thoughts and scenes of early youth. At such times a man thinks not of himself, but of his Creator; not entirely of his present status, but of his future. Men

The Post Housekeeper

We are asked whether or not there are other aspics than tomato. Have we used it so many times, L. E. that you thought we had no others? But, as a matter of fact, summer is coming on apace and we shall have need of these jellied dishes, and it will be not unwise at this time to give, with our Sunday dinner suggestion, possibly two or three aspic dishes.

Here is our menu for Sunday.
MENU.
 Cream of Pea Soup
 Toasted Crackers
 Sweet Pickle
 German Roast
 Creamed or Mashed Potatoes
 Fresh Buttered Carrots
 Cucumber and Tomato Salad
 Ice Box Cake
 Coffee.

German Roast.
 Take a large thick piece of round steak or lamb shoulder and take out any bone. Pound the meat well and lay it in vinegar for 24 hours. Heat a small amount of drippings in a kettle that can be closely covered. Pour the meat which has been rolled within the kettle. Sprinkle the upper side of the meat with salt, pepper and ginger and add an onion cut in pieces and stick some cloves, about six or seven, in the meat. Cover closely and cook for a half hour over a very slow fire, and without stirring the meat turn it over. Go through the same process of seasoning on this side and now add one or two tomatoes cut in pieces and about a pint of soup stock. Again cover closely and cook for two and a half hours, turning the meat occasionally. Be sure not to pierce the meat with the fork at any time. Serve on a hot platter garnished with parsley and surrounded with a gravy made of the liquid in which the meat was cooked.

Salad.
 For our cucumber and tomato salad we will remember that the cucumbers are to be peeled, sliced and soaked in salted water (ice water) for two or three hours. The tomatoes are then peeled and the cucumbers drained. Scoop the center from the tomatoes and add that which is removed to the cucumbers. Add a few drops of onion juice and salt and pepper to taste. Add a Philadelphia cream cheese that has been worked with a spoon until it has reached the consistency of soft butter and then work the well-seasoned cucumber and tomato mixture into the cheese. Return this mixture to the tomatoes and fill the centers to a well mounded top. Dash with paprika and serve with a spoonful of mayonnaise on the side of the lettuce leaf on which the tomato is, of course, served. Chill the whole before serving.

Aspic of Tongue.
 Cook a tongue in the usual manner of boiling until tender and then trim away all of the waste materials and the skin. Make a quart of brown stock from three beef bouillon cubes and season it to taste with salt and pepper and just a few drops of onion juice. Add an envelope of gelatin and set aside until this liquid begins to set but is not firm. Remove all skin from the tongue and slice it in thin slices. Place in the bottom of the mold in which the tongue is to be made up a number of carrot beads and slices of egg cut in fancy shapes. Take the gelatin mixture that is beginning to set and spread it over the decorations, being careful not to disturb their placement. Then add a

Miss Margaret Berry Apple Fete Princess

Miss Margaret Berry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Berry, of Chevy Chase, Md., yesterday was selected to represent Washington at the annual apple blossom festival which is to be held in Winchester, Va., Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss Berry will be a member of the blossom queen's party, which will include 40 young women "princesses" from all sections of Virginia and 10 each from West Virginia and Maryland. Announcement of her selection was made through the District commissioners yesterday by H. Clay de Grange, director general of the pageant. Miss Berry will leave here Tuesday, accompanied by her mother and party of friends. Mr. Berry, her father, is president of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co.

Cherry Blossoms Die As Dogwood Blooms

The dogwood blooms are now taking the place of the cherry blossoms in the District's parks, in accord with a scheme of the office of public buildings and public parks arranged last year to have distinctive flowering displays all through the summer.

A thousand dogwood trees set out last fall in West Potomac park between the Paul Jones statue and the Lincoln memorial are in bloom along a roadway between the north roadway of the Tidal basin and the Navy and Munitions buildings. Dogwood trees on Ridge road and Ross drive on the west boundary of Rock Creek park north of Pierce mill will be in bloom Sunday or Monday.

layer of thinly sliced tongue, then more gelatin mixture and more tongue and so on until the materials are used. Set aside in a chill place until the whole is firm and then turn onto a platter and garnish with lettuce, slices of hard cooked egg, pieces of dill pickle and olives. This, need I say, is a splendid looking dish as well as a dish that is delicious.

Aspic Novelty.
 We have not, it is true, gone greatly into the fancy forms of cookery, but it is also true that with summer we shall have need of the dainty, artistic things; so shall we today be a bit reckless and have the following recipe:
 Skin six small tomatoes and stuff them with crab meat or chicken or shrimp or just plain vegetable mixture, first mixing mayonnaise with the material that is to form the filling for the tomatoes and seasoning the mixture with salt. Make the gelatin mixture such as the recipe for tongue aspic called for; only this gelatin is to be made with chicken bouillon cubes rather than beef cubes. When the gelatin begins to set spread a layer in the bottom of a flat-bottom or ring

Housewives' Market Guide

By NANCY CAREY

THE market has shown no great fluctuation this week, and we are not able to buy the things that we had hoped to buy for very much less than we were able to buy them last week. Strawberries, of course, flutter up and down as the market varies, and will continue to do so until the market has somewhat stabilized itself and the crop becomes less variable. They are averaging, however, around 35 cents—or possibly we may say 30 cents a basket.

Asparagus started this last Monday at a high figure, but now that we have enjoyed a period of warmer weather, particularly warmer nights, we may find a sudden drop in its price if indeed it has not already happened. These prices were assembled. We find it at this time at 60 and 75 cents the bunch. Egg plant has reached its peak of perfection and may be had in good average size plants for from 25 to 35 cents each, depending upon the weight of the individual plants. Lettuce shows themselves but not regularly and sell for 5 cents for four to five separate stalks.

Artichokes flood the market at this time as the season is well advanced in California. They are, like the egg plant, at the pink of their perfection and most reasonable at 15 cents each. Bananas are firm, fat and glossy and to be had at 30 and 35 cents the dozen. Green corn has shown itself but to poor advantage, as it is poorly formed, tasteless and not worth the price it demands of two ears for 25 cents.

Spring lamb stays at its fancy figure of 65 cents the pound, but is splendid and to be depended upon for its deliciousness. It may go to a lower figure or it may not—we can not hope to predict. But, unlike the corn, it is not necessarily to be avoided because of the price. We find calves' liver in market at this time, at a fancy figure when we are told that it may be taken home for the consideration of 75 cents a pound. Later in the summer it may go as low as 55 cents, but it is doubtful that it will reach a lower level than that.

Of the fish that is offered at this time probably soft crab and shad and shad roe attract the most attention. All fish seems to have taken a little drop in price over last week, and we find roe shad at 35 and 40 cents—that is, of course, the choice ones—and roe at $1 a set. This shad is now from the Potomac and especially good. Soft crabs are not quite as high as last week in that the smaller ones may now be had at 20 cents, while the large ones are still 25 cents. Crab flake soups are prohibitive, but it is very good at $1.50 a pound for the large lumps for salad and $1.10 a pound for the smaller pieces that may be used for mold and place in the bed of gelatin the tomatoes, at an even distance apart and in the center of the mold if it is a ring mold. Put them in upside down, for when they come up they are to have their tops up, not down. The setting gelatin mixture will seal the open tops, and they are to be put at once on the ice or in the box, at least. Cover them with more of the gelatin mixture until the mold is filled and the little stuffed tomatoes completely covered. Set aside in ice box until firm, and then when ready to serve wipe over the bottom of the mold with a tea towel rung out in hot water and invert over a bed of crisp lettuce leaves. Garnish with strips of canned pimiento and sprays of parsley. Serve at once. Gelatin will not endure hot weather gracefully, and I have seen it melt dismally just as the guests were about to be seated, because the dish had been waiting at the table for the guests who were late.

I have avoided the many that require any announcement regarding the awarding of the prizes in the fish contest, but as this is Saturday and the announcement was to have been made on Tuesday, I must say now that unless a miracle happens and we work all day Sunday we shall not be able to complete the testing of these recipes in time to announce the winners on Tuesday. I anticipate, however, that we shall be ready with them on Thursday morning, April 28. There were a great many recipes that came to us at the last moment, as they usually do, and we wish to give them a very fair going over—even these late comers—and from the many that remain awaiting attention we know that the work must hang over into next week.

"False Love and True"

By CAROLINE BEECHER

SYNOPSIS

Bob Livingston's maiden aunt, Alice, who had brought her up so carefully, died on his eighteenth birthday. Her aunt had lived with him on an estate, but there was only $200 left for him. She goes to New York, and, in desperation, she takes a job as a typewriter operator in a business office. She meets a young man, who is a clerk in the same office, and they fall in love. He is a very handsome young man, and she is a very attractive young woman. They are both very poor, but they are very in love. They decide to get married, but they have no money. They go to a friend, who is a lawyer, and he gives them a loan. They get married, and they live happily ever after.

dered over the incident. I hated myself for calling him that name. I had determined in some way to see him. He had told me he loved me; had made me confess my love for him. It was unbearable to think he didn't want to talk to me.

The next day I left Mrs. Woods'. I had found a room on the top floor of an old-fashioned house for $4 a week. It was nothing but a cubby hole, but until I found work it would have to do. Cheap as it was, I wondered how long I would be able to afford even the $4.

It was a depressing room, the one window looking out on back yards where lines of clothes swished back and forth. It was scantily and poorly furnished. As I gazed about I wondered what Aunt Alice would say if she could see me in such a place.

And what would Bob say? My love for him tugged at my heart until I thought it would burst in my breast. Would he ever come to see me in this awful place? Mrs. Woods' house on Madison avenue, while old, was in a really desirable location. An address of which no one need feel ashamed. But this dingy place on a side street, one of numberless cheap boarding and lodging houses, would surely offend Bob's fastidious taste.

But only for a little did I worry about the place. Other things on my mind. A job. Money.

Should I give up and go back—never! I answered the thought before it had formulated itself. I'd starve first. I'd do anything no matter how menial rather than give up. But to get that anything.

Again I studied the "female wanted" column of the newspapers. I had tried the movie theaters all over the city. There was no place for me. I went to the employment offices, "have nothing for girls who have no experience" was the invariable answer to my request for a position. It didn't seem possible that in all New York there was no place for me, yet if there was I had no way of finding it.

Disheartened, discarding my money gone, is it any wonder I was desperate. Then, although I had tried several times, I had been unable to reach Bob on the telephone. I called at Mrs. Woods' saw Martha, asked if he had been there. He had not, neither had he called on the phone.

"It is that woman keeping him from me," something whispered. "The woman who answered the phone the day I called him."

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE FIVE-YEAR OLD.

Here's a busy little thing, Tongue forever on the swing, Feet forever on the go, Eyes forever mirth aglow, Why should age with all its pride Be so smug and satisfied? Here's a little child of four Who has more of strength, and more Joyous thoughts from day to day Than the wisest head of gray.

Here she is awake at dawn With the robin on the lawn Starting in again to play In her madcap, rollicking way. While the grown-up lies and sighs Blind to sparkling, sunny skies; Deaf to laughter, weary still; Like a crippled man or ill, Having naught of joy to say As a welcome to the day.

Should she get that grown-up out Then those little legs so stout Soon would run him out of breath And might even cause his death. He would wither in an hour Underneath her wealth of power. If he would he couldn't do, All the things she'd want him to Just one day with her, and he Would a worn-out warrior be.

Rich he thinks himself, oh, Are his eyes with mirth aglow? Does he see, where'er they turn Something new he wants to learn? Do his joys so fast succeed That his days are short indeed? Does he find so much of grace In his trinkets commonplace? No, the richest soul alive Is a little child of five.

Mr. Work's Pointer On Auction Bridge

THE pointer for today is: Against no-trump, without a sure entry, lead the Queen from four, five or six cards headed by Ace-Queen-Jack.

Yesterday's hand was:

Q-J-9-3
A-10-8-4
K-7-5-2
10-6-4-3-2

In every case South's initial bid obtains the contract.

My answer slip reads:

No. 17, West should lead the Queen of Clubs.

No. 19, West should lead the Queen of Spades.

No. 20, West should lead the Three of Hearts.

No. 17: Against a No-Trump, while the choice between a Queen-Jack-9 suit and an Ace-Queen-Jack suit would be close if both suits were of equal length, it is not when one suit is of five cards and the other of four.

No. 19: Contract, three hearts. Having but one trump and the establishment of a suit not being apt to be advantageous, the Queen-Jack-9 presents a better opening than the Ace-Queen-Jack. The three hearts trebleton is not to be considered.

No. 20: Contract four diamonds. It is a close choice between the singleton three of hearts and the Queen of Spades; but in desperate cases the singleton is more apt to result successfully than the lead of the moderately strong four-card suit.

This concludes our first series of leading hands. Twenty different leads have been explained and you have had twenty opportunities to compare your leads with your friends' solutions and with my answers. Next week a series of twenty bidding hands will be submitted, the first appearing on Monday and the last on Friday. Arrange now with your Bridge-playing friends to name your bids every one of the five days, and let us see how your respective records compare. No Bridge contest in which you participate will be more interesting than this.

Conduct and Common Sense

By ANNE SINGLETON

TYPEWRITERS OR HANDWRITERS.

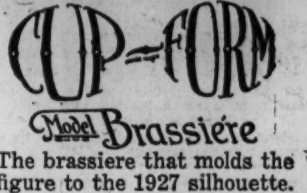

MY Dear Miss Singleton: Is it permissible to use a typewriter for social correspondence, if the correct stationery is used? BUSY.

I think handwriting is more distinguished, or, as old-fashioned people say, "elegant." If you have been taught to write a good hand, I should certainly recommend your answering all notes, and writing all letters but business letters with your pen. To receive a typewritten answer to an invitation would be a great surprise to any well-bred person. Indeed, I never heard of such a thing being done. On the other hand, when intimate friends or relations take their little "Coronas" traveling, they use them for home correspondence as naturally as they would use fountain pens, and their family and friends consider it perfectly right. I should say that the typewriter could be used for manuscripts, for formal business and informal family and friendly letters, and for nothing else. Social matters are for the pen, and a good, legible, graceful handwriting is an important social asset that can not be acquired too early. If school children were set copies not only of the kind of hand they ought to write, but the kind of notes and letters as well—how to express them, how to space them, how to sign them—it would be a great help in their later life.

Of course, a good many school teachers are themselves ignorant of such matters, but it would be possible to get a book of letters written by a person who understood such matters. The word "stationery" is one I should not employ myself in speaking of letter paper. It is one of those words always used in trade, but not by the best-speaking people. I don't know why. I only know that unconsciously when I hear anybody asking "What sort of stationery should I use?" I always think, "Well, as long as she calls it stationery, it really doesn't matter much what she uses." Yet there's nothing wrong with the expression "important," and yet it's a word of the shop, not of society.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES McDONALD

A Very Recent Past.

MY Dear Miss McDonald: Can love ever be renewed when faith, trust and hope, all the essentials upon which love is founded, have been destroyed? I am 21 years old and was about to become engaged to a young man of 23 possessing gentlemanly qualities, but also having little faults as most humans do. He seldom took me to places of amusement as he was earning his way through college. When he graduated he had many debts to repay, so I therefore demanded little entertainment knowing he could not afford it. He recently told me that because of his love for me he could not keep a secret. He made frantic efforts to tell me the matter but I would let my reluctance to return to a former status proclaim my stand on the moral equality of women. What woman demands stamens of man, she will get it. So to be rid of your hero prove his lesson learned. Then when you are satisfied of his advancement along the lines of character developments you might take your chances. But while not condoning his act you must not either confuse it with depravity. The whole situation is the result of present day conditions and a combination of circumstances that render the entire proceeding one of the deplorable things that are at the same time peculiarly natural and things stand today. The man is neither worse nor weaker than the average but he is certainly weak—so take your "swimming wild oats" and something to

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

TEA AND COFFEE ARE NOT GOOD FOR CHILDREN.

A LARGE part of the child population is drinking coffee or tea one or more times a day. This is almost a custom with us. The drinking of these beverages does harm in two ways.

The alkaloids in coffee and tea are harmful to growing children. Tea and coffee take the place of milk in the diet. They crowd this wholesome beverage, necessary for growing children, off the daily diet.

Coffee and tea, when drunk by children, create an acid taste. They may lay the basis for drug appetites. Finally, the breast milk of mothers who are heavy coffee drinkers or tea drinkers contains a white, crystalline substance which has all the earmarks of the alkaloid of tea and coffee. This was attributed to the presence of harmful quantities in breast milk has not been determined.

All the above are substantially the views of Dr. R. R. Irvin, who has been investigating coffee drinking among children for several years. He wrote to nearly all the children's specialists in the country, and to many social workers and public health officials. He read in all the reports on habits and customs of children in many parts of the United States and among different racial groups. Finally, he did some investigation of his own.

The consensus he found to be that the custom of giving tea or coffee was widespread and a source of considerable harm. Some children habitually drank several cups of coffee daily.

The custom was somewhat on the decline in the United States. The hope of doing away with it entirely lies largely in publicity. If all the health columns in the country will write on the subject, we will make headway. If the foreign language papers and the papers which circulate in special racial groups will take it up, that will help greatly. The church papers can do a big part.

Dr. Irvin finds that most physicians do not think children need a hot drink of any kind, not even in cold weather. Some favored hot soup, hot milk, or hot water, but objected to hot tea and coffee.

Nearly all the physicians were opposed to the plan of adding enough coffee to milk to flavor it. In their experience children preferred unflavored milk to milk flavored with coffee.

Women's Hygienic Problem

Handled new way—Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND

WOMEN'S greatest business and social handicap has finally been overcome by a new hygienic way called Kotex, which is 10 better class women now use.

✓ You dispose of Kotex as easily as tissue. Which ends the problem of laundry or disposal.

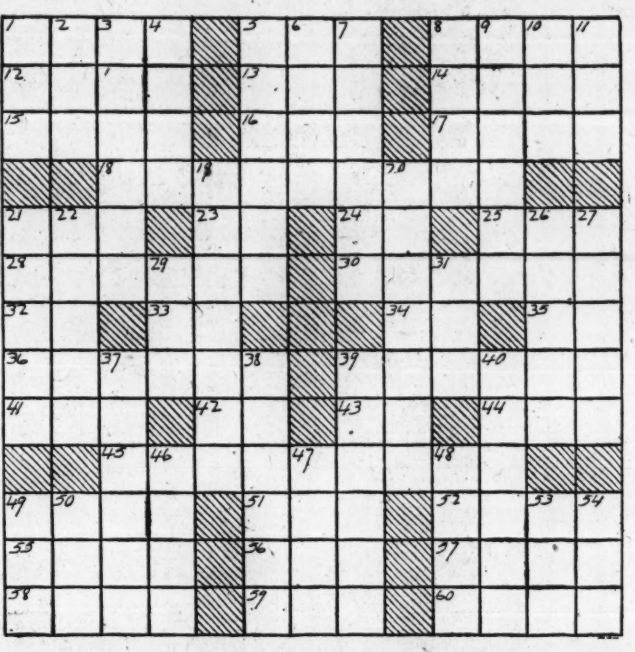

✓ You wear lightest, flimsiest gowns in safety and without fear. For Kotex protects absolutely under all conditions. It's 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads. Deodorizes, too!

Obtain at any store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX." Many stores have it already wrapped for you to pick up, and take home without even asking.

Package of 12 costs only a few cents. Be sure you get the genuine, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

The Second Day of the Voyage

ONE of these figures is right, the other is utterly, hopelessly, unforgivably wrong—and if you were to look at them without their background, it would be impossible to tell which is which. But the background tells the story. For it is a steamer, and the lady at the left is quite as out of place there as she would be on a golf course. Her figure is of beige velvet with a huge brown satin bow, her little dark brown skull-cap, her brown suede sandals are perfection itself on a shipboard.

The convention of "country clothes for steamers" has a basis of sound sense, for unless you want to lie all day in a deck chair, you must walk or play deck tennis. Therefore, sports frocks and flat-heeled shoes are essential. The lady at the right understands this and is wearing a tweed suit with a cardigan jacket and pleated skirt. Her blouse is in soft white pique—by far the smartest material for wear with tweeds this season—with a little monogram embroidered at the belt. Her soft hat is of beige felt, her shoes are brogues of brown calfskin. She belongs in her setting, and that is the end and aim of the smart woman.

The smartest woman may wear her town clothes to the steamer, but when she is once aboard, she puts them in her trunk. And that is what the woman in this picture failed to do, for the artist, old Vogue, disapprovingly, that she sketched them the second day out.

And She Bought a New Address Book!

"The only place in the world to get a Crepe Suzette," says the much-traveled person in the black crepe frock with its tie faced with white. Mizzi being modest as well as modish doesn't ask what Crepe Suzette is and hopes that she can spell it. Where is the place?

The lady can't quite remember. You turn to the right from the Ritz and then—well, then she doesn't quite remember. "Of course, for bouillabaisse," remarks another voice—the voice belonging to the young woman in the tucked frock speaking to the draped dress.

She didn't remember the exact address, but any one at the Dome could tell Mizzi. Just ask. It isn't until Mizzi is home again and has changed to a tea gown in two shades of violet with chiffon sleeves that she realizes the whole afternoon didn't give her a single address!

Monday—Frocks of Sheer Fabrics.

MODISH MITZI

There are so many places Mizzi must visit that she has bought a special address book for her Paris trip. Of course, there are the fashion openings—but she won't need an address book to remind her of those. Do notice her rose crepe frock with the sun dial tuck.

MAYOR WALKER FOR LATE JOHNSON'S POSTIS REPORT

Red Sox Again Beaten by Nats
Harrismen Hit Ball Hard and Win, 7 to 3.

"Covey" Retires With Sore Arm; Myer Steals Home.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH, Sports Editor, The Post.

BOSTON, April 22.—Threatening skies forecast rain here today, but gave no indication of the form that the downpour would take. There appeared to be grounds for belief that a strange natural phenomenon had occurred here when the Washington ball players literally rained base hits all over the confines of Fenway park. The Boston ball players were so busily engaged fielding the fourteen safe hits and sundry other bingles of the Washington bats that they had little time to devote to their own offense, and Washington won the second game of the series, 7 to 3, repeating its yesterday's performance.

The first two of the three pitchers whom Corigan elected to hurl were not very effective. Young Charles Ruffing started the game and that is the extent of the credit to which he can lay claim. He was bombarded from the second inning onward until relieved by Delmar Lundgren, who was no improvement. Eddie McFadden, erstwhile schoolboy, held the Nats in check in the last inning.

Stanley Coveleskie pitched for Washington and his spit ball was a source of concern for the Sox during the six innings he twirled. He allowed Boston two hits and one run during his stay on the mound, and was relieved by Marberry at his own request when he suffered a recurrence of soreness in his arm and shoulder.

Marberry allowed Boston two runs in the ninth inning, but was never in serious straits. The game was errorless but Boston contributed at least two runs to the Washington total by loose play in the field. Three of Washington's hits dropped early between the infield and outfield when Boston players were unable to decide whose turn it was to field the ball or whether to field it today or in tomorrow's game.

Featuring today's game was the return to batting form of Buddy Myer and Bluege, who had not been hitting enough to earn a place in a high school series. Myer obtained three hits, including a double over Flagstad's head, and stole home in the eighth inning. Bluege came through with a double and single, each of which drove runners across the plate.

Washington had scored four runs before Boston crashed through with a lone tally. Two runs were registered by the Nats in the third inning, another in the fourth, and another in the fifth. The remaining three were scored in a cluster in the eighth. Run until the ninth, when bunched hits of Marberry accounted for three more useless tallies.

Huffing presented the Nats with their first run of the game, when, with the bases filled in the third inning, he uncorked a wild pitch. Harris singled to start the inning and after speaker had popped to Wanninger, Goslin singled to right.

Harris stumbled rounding second and was barely able to crawl back to the base safely. Both advanced a base on Judge's single and Harris scored on the wild pitch, while Goslin moved to third. He scored on Myer's long fly to center. Bluege struck out.

Muddy Ruel coaxed a walk from Ruffing to start the fourth, but was forced out on Coveleskie's attempted sacrifice. Coveleskie moved up when Harris

Braves 25 Per Cent Better Than in 1926, Says McGraw Giant Leader Impressed With Spirit of Team; Expects Moore to Star in Outfield; Thomas Seen as Coming Ace.

By JOHN L. MCGRAW, Manager, New York Giants.

NEW YORK, April 22.—In answer to many questions that have been asked me about the Braves of 1927, let me group several of them by expressing my opinion that the club is greatly improved and that the constructive policy of Dave Bancroft is beginning to bear fruit.

The Braves, as a whole, appear to be well knit together and, as a consequence, have developed a team spirit that will carry them a long way. They are never beaten until the last man is out. To build up that sort of spirit is one of the most difficult jobs as a manager.

In reply to the first question directly, I think the Braves are 25 per cent better than last year, and their spirit has improved in the same proportion.

"Will Eddie Moore make a better outfielder than an infielder?" was the next question asked me.

Yes, I think he will. In the first place he likes to play out there. I understand, often I have heard his old teammates say he would be better as an outfielder. In his new

TITLE FIGHT SOUGHT BY CHICAGO

Windy Cityans to Offer Richard Soldiers' Field Bowl.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Not to be outdone by Philadelphia boosters or those of any other city who have ambitions to promote the next world's heavyweight championship bout, a delegation of Chicago business men, it was reported here today, are coming to town next week to open negotiations with Tex Rickard for the battle.

It is said that the Chicago pilgrims will be headed by members of the Illinois Athletic commission and several members of the chamber of commerce. They will tell Rickard they are ready to let him plant the bout in the Soldiers' Field bowl, the scene of the Eucharistic congress and the last Army-Navy football game, which has a seating capacity of approximately 150,000, thereby virtually assuring the promoter of about $20,000 a game.

Rickard will be back at his desk in the new Garden tomorrow to talk turkey with Gene Tunney and his manager, Billy Gibson. Tunney and Gibson are as anxious as any boxing fan to learn when the next fight is coming off and where.

A purse of $57,000 for a six-round bout may sound ridiculous, yet that is what the promoters of the fistic carnival at the Polo Grounds on June 15 are offering to the benefit of the Boys' club of the New York archdiocese have agreed to split between Ed Terrell and Ruby Goldstein for boxing the brief but feature bout of the card.

Both batters affixed their signatures to contracts today in the office of the state athletic commission. Terrell has been guaranteed $32,000. Goldstein agreed to $25,000 for his end.

Pirates Beat Reds, 3-1; Wright Stars Afield

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 22 (By A. P.).—Wright, Pirates continued on the victory path by defeating Cincinnati, 3 to 1 today. The bespectacled Meadows held the Reds safe in the pinches while Pittsburgh bunched hits, walks and sacrifices in three innings.

An instance two years ago illustrates Bluege's peculiar batting propensities. He set a record of a league record in a series with Chicago when he faced pitcher Leverette and fanned six times in succession. Later in the season, when he faced Leverette again, he was the star of the series, pounding the White Sox twirler off the mound almost single-handed and maintaining a batting pace that figured considerably in Washington's pennant triumph that year.

Coveleskie was brimfull of confidence before the game today, after receiving a rub by Trainer Martin, who massaged his arm and shoulder vigorously. The soreness in

Harry Baker Scores in Fifth

Patricia J. Second by Half a Length for Follies Purse.

Angry Mood Accounts for Opener in Close Finish.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 22.—The racing conditions at their worst today, one of the most startling of which found C. M. J. Thomsen, the winner of a field of seven mares and fillies, competing at 6 furlongs for the Follies Purse.

Thomsen's mud-running ability was overlooked to an extent which made it the longest price in the mutuels for the race. Those few who had tickets on the 6-year-old chestnut mare were rewarded with a $75.00 winning dividend.

For was Thomsen's victory a lucky effort. Breaking on top, the daughter of Superman-Thammar, Myra M., the favorite, on her feet after the little filly had stepped some 3 furlongs in front.

Jockey Stevens worked his hardest to keep Myra M. going along with the ultimate winner, but was forced to be satisfied with third honors because Patricia J. finished with a rush which found her a half length behind the winner.

"Jockey O. Brown had the mount on Thomsen, and shares the honors of the victory with the fleet-footed mare. Thomsen, with Paternell, who although well backed, could not maintain the pace.

The Harwood purse was annexed by Harry Baker, ridden by Jockey Phelan, demonstrating his superiority at the weights, distance and conditions over the small field which competed for the $1,500 purse.

Two juveniles paraded to the post for the opening number, a dash at four and one-half furlongs, under claiming conditions, with Harry Baker as the favorite. The latter finished a length and one-half ahead of Harry Baker.

Those who follow form the closest overlooked J. H. Nicholson's race. Harry Baker, who was a sprinter at three-quarters, Sun-sweet, which races for the Sagamore stakes, was considered the best good thing, but failed to finish in the picture.

Declare simply trotted home in the sixth race of a mile and 70 yards, winning from Forehand by a half dozen lengths. It was Sagamore's last race. The manager of the afternoon, Forehand fought it out with Wood Fairy to the bitter end and finally clinched the place by a scant inch. This was about as cheap a field as has been seen during the season in Maryland. Many of the crowd bailed to splash down the finish line, seemed lucky to get around the track yet the winner paid less than 2 to 1.

VEGETABLE SALAD—34.
A very good salad to make up when there is an accumulation of cooked vegetables in the house; but they must be combined with a little finely shredded cabbage, dried celery, minced green pepper or some other raw vegetable to give the freshness that is so necessary to the salad. A good combination would be equal parts of sliced cooked carrots, cooked green beans, finely shredded cabbage, put together with a boiled salad dressing, garnished with a little shredded green or red pepper and for single service arranged in small cups made of the outer cabbage leaves.—Mrs. M. M. Livingston, 911 19th st. n.w.

Advance in Closing of Hour Would Afford Workers Added Recreation.

STOCKS REMAIN STRONG

By F. W. PATTERSON.

With banks in New York, Pittsburgh and many other cities going on the daylight savings plan Monday, and the Philadelphia Clearing House association voting unanimously to close the banks in that city at 2 o'clock from the beginning of April 23 and ending September 24, local bankers are once more beginning to think of early summer closing, and many of them are hopeful that Washington banks will inaugurate the system this year.

A checkup at a number of the District banks yesterday revealed that many of the larger institutions were in favor of early closing during the summer months and would welcome a move on the part of the District Bankers' association to bring this about.

It was pointed out that with the banks opening at 9 a. m., and closing their doors at 2 p. m., for four months, would work no hardship on the clientele of the institutions, as they would quickly accustom themselves to the change in closing time, and a banker said: "When the customer learns that the change in time would benefit the personnel he will be the first to make such changes in his own habits as would permit of an earlier closing through the summer."

With the majority of the banks closing at 2 o'clock, the work of the personnel is not completed until around 5 o'clock and in some of the institutions at much later hours, so that there is no opportunity for the host of bank employees to indulge in many of the recreational advantages which the city offers during daylight hours. With the 2 o'clock closing, the hour gained would mean an hour or more of daylight each day in which employees could take to the river, play golf, tennis, or enjoy some other favorite form of amusement or rest.

With the plan of closing successfully in many other cities, some of which have shorter banking hours throughout the year, the majority opinion throughout the financial district seems to be that a movement for early closing in the summer months, as advocated by the District Bankers' association would meet with the hearty support of member banks.

Stocks Remain Strong.

Trading on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday was about on a par with the day before, with prices remaining strong.

$50,000 FOR ACQUISITION URGED BY PLANNING BOARD

Commission Wants Fund Provided for Purchase of Parking Places.

RECOMMENDS HOLDING INDUSTRIAL HOME SITE

Group Declares Triangle Sales Would Be Uneconomical for the Future.

An annual appropriation of $50,000 to provide funds for the purchase by the District commissioners of small parcels of land in the District for parking purposes was recommended yesterday by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission. Only $5,000 will be available for the purpose next year and there are from 30 to 50 parcels which should be bought, the commission said.

Retention of the Industrial Home school site by the District was recommended by the commission. Congress has authorized sale of the land to provide funds for purchase of land elsewhere. The park commission declared sale of the land would be uneconomical for the future.

Canal Purchase Discussed

Acquisition of the Chesapeake & Ohio canal within the District was considered, but because of the litigation involving the canal the process of its acquisition by the government would be long and costly and no decision was reached. The question was raised by E. Brooke Lee, speaker of the Maryland house of delegates, who outlined plans of Maryland for cooperation in the beautification of its territory contiguous to Washington in connection with the national park commission.

Purchase of a small tract at Fort Stanton and another small tract in the Shepherd parkway, both in Anacostia, was approved by the commission.

Several changes in the highway plans were approved by the commission. Among the more important changes approved were to move U street a half block south between the parkway and Conduit road, to make it a 120-foot boulevard between the parks; to extend Sheppard street west of Fourteenth street into Piney Branch valley, under the Tiger bridge, to connect with Rock Creek park drives, without crossing Sixteenth street at grade.

Priest Quits Board Of National Council

Resignation of the Rev. John A. Ryan, internationally known Catholic sociologist, as a member of the executive board of the National Council for the Prevention of War was announced yesterday through the National Catholic Welfare council news service. Dr. Ryan, who is a member of the faculty of Catholic university, resigned because of his objection to "Catholic propaganda" being disseminated through the league machinery by Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the peace organization.

Dr. Ryan characterized editorial and so-called news stories on Mexico sent out by Mr. Libby as "disrespectful, unfair and un-American." Mr. Libby denied the charge and replied to Dr. Ryan with the statement that he had read the articles complained of and "stood by them."

Pennsylvania Installs "St. Louisan" Train

A new train service between Washington, Baltimore and Cincinnati and St. Louis was announced yesterday by the Pennsylvania railroad, effective tomorrow afternoon. The train, to be known as the "St. Louisan," will leave Washington city at 2:15 o'clock, will leave Baltimore at 3:18 o'clock in the afternoon, and will arrive in Cincinnati at 7:45 o'clock in the morning, and in St. Louis at 1:35 o'clock in the afternoon.

The new service, the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. said, was in response to the increasing demand for through drawing-room and sleeping cars between the National Capital and Cincinnati and St. Louis. The new schedule will cut several hours from the old-time schedule.

Hesse's New Order Protects Children

Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police, issued a general order yesterday, the purpose of which was to provide for more protection for children playing close to sand or earth banks. The order said: "With the object in view of precluding the possibility of further tragedies of this character you will instruct the members of your force to make a special survey of their respective beats and territories and wherever children are found playing on or near any sand or dirt bank, or where conditions are such as to make their play at that point in any way dangerous, you will warn them that they must find another place to play. While the warning does not produce the desired effect you will take the names of the children and notify their parents."

Jamboree to Be Given By Advertising Club

The Washington Advertising club will give its annual "jamboree" Monday night. The club members and guests will occupy a section of the orchestra of Keith's theatre and afterwards will go to the Le Paradis cafe for a dinner dance.

The affair also will celebrate the recent election of officers. Norman Kai was reelected president, Ernest Johnston and Sylvan King vice presidents, Sidney Selinger treasurer and Miss Margaret Stigrauer secretary. New directors include Walter Barkdull, Allan De Ford, Norman Bull, James McNally, James Sullivan, George Ostermayer and Miss Sadie Bens. Miss Stigrauer is in charge of reservations for the "jamboree."

Boxer Estate $16,000

John S. Boxer, who died March 22, left an estate valued at more than $16,000, according to the petition for letters testamentary filed yesterday in probate court by the Washington Loan & Trust Co. Boxer was survived by a widow, Mrs. Ida W. Boxer, and three daughters.

PLANS FOR CHILD HEALTH FESTIVAL COMPLETED

City Wide Preschool Canvass and Poster Campaign on Schedule.

PAGEANT WILL BE GIVEN

Final arrangements for the May day festival of the Child Health association were completed yesterday at a meeting in the association headquarters, 1022 Eleventh street northwest. Plans for a city wide canvass with a view to examining children of preschool age and a poster campaign to aid in blotting out diphtheria also were discussed.

The main event of the festival will be held on the Ellipse a week from today at 2:30 o'clock. Miss Margaret H. Craig announced a pageant will be given by the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, a concert will be given by the United States Army band and ten tents will be pitched in which physical demonstrations and examinations of children will be given.

From 9 a. m. until 1 p. m., Dr. Hugh J. Davis, chairman of the committee in charge, announced, the nine health clinics of the association throughout the city, the Children's hospital clinic and the Tenley and John Burroughs schools would be supplied with volunteer physicians to examine children and point out physical defects. Dr. J. A. Murphy, chief medical instructor in the schools, reported 30 physicians thus far had volunteered.

The city wide canvass will start the same day. Workers will go from house to house, gathering a directory of children between 2 and 6 years old with the view of having them examined and thereby correcting physical deficiencies before they enter school.

The poster campaign will begin next week. Posters informing of the means by which diphtheria can be checked and blotted out will be posted in schools, theaters, banks, stores and other public places.

SCHOOLS RAISE $2,200 FOR JEFFERSON FUND

Money Will Go Toward Up-keep of Patriot's Home, Monticello.

Contributions of District school children to the fund for the preservation of Monticello, home of Thomas Jefferson, totalled $2,200.80, and averaged nearly 3 cents to the pupil, it was announced yesterday by Harry O. Fine, secretary of the board of education.

The volunteer collection was made in all of the schools Wednesday, during exercises commemorating the birthday of the patriot, after the board of education had taken action waiving the rule prohibiting solicitation of funds for any purpose in the schools. The amount raised was turned over to Richard W. Hynson, of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial foundation, which is seeking to endow the home which Jefferson designed and occupied for half a century. Mrs. Howard L. Hodgkins sponsored the appeal for funds in the local schools.

C. of C. Committees Plan Aid to Capital

Intensive committee work on problems affecting the business and civic interests of Washington was planned yesterday by chairmen and vice chairmen of 26 committees of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, attending the first general meeting of committee executives ever held by the chamber.

As a direct result, each of the 26 committees will hold organization meetings of its group before the May session of the chamber. At that time reports will be made on work accomplished. Ten major problems were outlined as requiring immediate attention, including increase in fire insurance rates, coordination of school building and park playground extension programs, national representation and industrial expansion. Dorsey W. Hyde, secretary of the chamber, was directed to prepare a schedule of committee meetings for the month.

CIVIC GROUPS DISCUSS POLICEMAN'S ACQUITTAL

Federation Approves Pinkett Report; Plan Request for Inquiry by Congress.

CONSTITUTION ACCEPTED

The Federation of Civic Associations meeting last night in the board room at the District building, approved a special report made by Archibald S. Pinkett to the effect that the recent failure of the police court and the police trial board to convict an officer accused of abuse of Mrs. Josephine White in Linden court, lessens public confidence in the tribunals before which the officer was tried.

Discussion developed the manner in which the case was handled by the district attorney's office and by the trial board, with the result that appointment of a special committee of the federation and other organizations was taken under advisement, for the purpose of formulating complaints before the commissioners and the office of the Attorney General, and to establish a basis of request for investigation by Congress of the department of the District of Columbia.

Huver I. Brown, federation secretary, protested action of the citizens' advisory council in discussing proposals or amendments affecting the civic federation without notifying that body of the nature of the matters considered. Advisory council members, Richardson and Beason, advised that such proposals or amendments would have no effect in law until acted on by the civic federation. Discussion of the proposed amendment changing the membership of the advisory council from 9 to 30 members revealed a general disposition of delegates to demand a colored membership of 5 should the council be so enlarged.

The federation constitution came up in final form for adoption and was accepted, the principal change being the addition of an assistant secretaryship. The clean-up campaign sponsored by the commissioners for the week of April 25 was endorsed. Each affiliated association was notified to post meeting nights and boundaries with the executive secretary, John E. Bowles.

MOTORBUS TERMINAL MAY CEASE APRIL 30

Certain Lines Are Not Paying Share in Maintenance, Commission Told.

The motorbus terminal recently established for interstate bus lines at C and Little Ninth streets northwest, is scheduled to pass out of existence April 30, according to a letter received by the public utilities commission yesterday from C. Philip Heishley, one of the proprietors.

Heishley informed the commission that some of the bus lines are not paying their pro rata share of maintenance of the terminal and that, if they do not bear their share of the expense it will be necessary to close it at the end of the month. He asked the commission to bring pressure to bear on the companies to pay.

The corporation counsel advised the commission that it was without jurisdiction in the matter and the commission replied that it could take no action.

DISTRICT ACCEPTS M'CARL RULING ON GASOLINE REFUND

Commissioners Name Committee to Devise Method of Complying With Request.

AUTOMATIC TRAFFIC DEVICES PLANNED

Purchasing Agent Authorized to Get Bids for Timed Signal Controls.

The board of District commissioners yesterday voted to accept the ruling of Comptroller General John R. McCarl and refund to Federal departments sums paid by them in buying gasoline representing the gasoline tax of 2 cents a gallon.

Specific action in refund was not taken, but after a repetition of McCarl's earlier ruling had been received yesterday, in response to a request for reconsideration, the commissioners appointed their secretary, Daniel E. Gargues; Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, auditor, and Assistant Assessor Dr. W. Russell, a committee to devise a method of doing what McCarl said it was necessary to do.

This included rendering at once a complete account of the sums demanded in refunds by Federal departments, sending McCarl the necessary monthly statements of gas tax charges against the departments and taking early action to "avoid future" collections on government purchases.

Donovan had said that there was no money appropriated out of which the District could pay the claims of the departments. McCarl stated that after he had received the statements he requested, he would ask Congress to appropriate the necessary funds.

The commissioners decided to install automatic timing devices to turn the electric traffic signals on at 7 a. m. and off at midnight daily, instead of having firemen do it by hand in the fire engine houses where the signal controls are located. Purchasing Agent M. C. Harvige was authorized to advertise for bids.

Contracts were awarded to the Baltimore Enamel & Novelty Co. for 500 "caution" traffic signs at $1.63 each to be placed near schools and 300 "stop" signs at $1.64 each to be placed at the corners of cross streets with arterial highways.

GERMANY DESIRED RUSSIA TO STAND ASIDE WHILE AUSTRIA PUNISHED SERBIA. DURING THIS PERIOD OF NEGOTIATIONS THE GERMAN FOREIGN OFFICE APPARENTLY ACTED INDEPENDENTLY OF THE KAISER WHO WAS IN NORWEGIAN WATERS ON A VACATION.

THE AGED EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA, FRANZ JOSEPH, AND HIS CHANCELLORS PROCEEDED WITH UTMOST HASTE TO PREPARE FOR WAR, REFUSING ALL SUGGESTIONS OF ARBITRATION. SERBIA'S ALLIES WERE ALARMED OVER THE TURN OF EVENTS.

Ten years ago this month the United States entered the world war. This anniversary has been marked by a great revival of interest in the events of the war, an interest that is intensified by the coming pilgrimage of the American Legion to Paris. The whole will present a graphic and accurate record of marvelous achievement. Begin now to clip this series for preservation in a scrapbook.
